

It's a Wildlife World for baby Boonda

NEW ARRIVAL: His natural habitat is shrinking, but Boonda the baby koala has a safe and comfortable environment in the centre of Sydney. Sydney Wildlife World has been showing off the newborn to raise awareness of the importance of conserving his cuddly cousins. Boonda is the first koala to be born to a mother who was also born at the zoo, and he'll be the star attraction at its new, open-air habitat, Koala HQ. Picture: Cameron Richardson